

Frame 1:	Cornelia is getting ready for her date with her new boyfriend, Al. Cornelia puts on her new, star-shaped earrings. She puts on her tight-fitting new green silk dress. Cornelia sees herself in the mirror. She hopes that Al will like what he sees as much as she does. (You can tell that Cornelia thinks that she is “hot stuff.” Things start “poppin’” when I’m around,” she said to herself with a smile. Her silky hair glistened and sparkled in the light. “I hope that this one doesn’t turn out to be a flake like the last one, “ she continued thinking. “This Summer Field perfume costs $80 per oz. I’m glad that I made that boyfriend take back the one oz. Bottle and buy me the three oz. bottle before I dumped him,” she thought.

Frame 2:	Al is getting ready for his date with Cornelia, too. He is in his one room apartment in the Peach Tree Apartment Complex. The apartment doesn't have much, but it does have an exercise room with machines and two tons of weights. His apartment is on the run-down side of town, next to the soup factory. "I hope that things don't turn sour, like they did on my date last week," Al said to himself. Al put on some cherry-blossom cologne. This will aid me in making a good impression, " he thought. Al admired his big muscles. "The better to squeeze you with, My Dear," he thought some more.

Frame 3:	At the same time, Barry Straw was getting out of jail. (He had been in jail this time for three years. This was his second time in jail. The first time he stole $125.00. The second time he robbed a gas station for $87.75, but they caught the robbery on tape and the police picked him up in three days.). “You cops can stick your noses in rotten fertilizer,” he told the guards. The guard told Barry to “keep his nose clean”, but Barry was planning his next robbery and didn’t listen to him. “I’ll rob a restaurant tonight, and I’ll rob a bank tomorrow morning when they open, “ he planned. What restaurant do you think that he will rob? The one where Al and Cornelia are going, of course. ☺

Frame 4:	Al picked Cornelia up at her home at the corner of Oil Street and Popper Lane. He was ten minutes early because he wanted to make a good impression. Cornelia was ten minutes late because she wanted to let Al know that she was the best thing since flour tortillas. “They appreciate me more if I make them wait,” she thought. Al opened the door of his bright yellow convertible to help Cornelia in. “This streak of lightning has 8,000 horses,” bragged Al. “we’ll be there in a blue streak.” “Go slow so the wind doesn’t mess up my silky hair,” said Cornelia. They arrived at the restaurant, the Steam Room, just as Barry was making his getaway. Who do you think Barry will take for a hostage?

Frame 5:	Barry pointed his .45 caliber Salad Shooter brand “Saturday Night Special” at Al. He got the revolver at a the Same as Cash pawn shop for only $45.00. “Git out of the car, and leave it running, I’m gonna use this car for my getaway,” yelled Barry. “Leave the girl in the car ‘cause she’s comin’ with me.” Al didn’t want bullets to go through his big muscles, so he got out of the car. “Make any funny moves and I’ll pop you one,” Barry told Cornelia. “I just earned $500 plus a $35 bottle of booze, for five minute’s work,” bragged Barry. “That’s over $30,000 an hour. I bet your pretty boyfriend can’t do that good [sic]. He’s a loser.” “Ha,” said Cornelia, “you will get ten years when you’re caught. That will be a half of a half of a half of a half of a cent per hour for the jail time. You’re the loser.”
